When asked what she was looking forward to this season, Junior Reagan Harold said, "I'm looking forward to improving my game this year and hopefully doing well in tournaments. One of my goals from last year was to place top 5 in conference and I placed fifth, so this year I want to place in the top 3."

Girls Basketball

Girls basketball has gotten off to a rough start with a 1-4 record, its only victory coming against Waubonsie Valley in a four game tournament. While this is a downside, the team can only go up from here and succeed for the rest of the season.

When asked about what her goals for this season were, junior Maddi Overton said, "Some of my goals for this season was to have a cohesive team and to improve upon my fundamentals. Considering I personally have had three different coaches in three years, a team that worked together and meshed well was key. Our coach pushed us to work on fundamentals daily which is a great. Also, we have better communication and organization as a team. It feels like more of a inherent effort on both the players and coaches side."

not let the losses phase me in any way" said sophomore Fabian Lopez.
